DETAILED FEEDBACKS

ADHIKAAR IAS

1. The Constitution envisages fraternity not merely as a moral ideal but as an indispensable condition for sustaining constitutional democracy. In the context of growing social polarisation and erosion of public trust, examine the constitutional significance of fraternity and discuss the role of the State and citizens in fostering it. 2. India's heavy dependence on imported fossil fuels poses a significant strategic risk. In this context, critically examine the potential of agriphotovoltaics (Agri-PV) as a transformative solution to enhance India's energy security while simultaneously augmenting farmers' incomes. What policy and institutional interventions are needed to scale up this model? (10 Marks, 150 words)
